Modular Buildings and Space Management Solutions

The world's largest and most established firms trust Ufudu Zambia to provide the local expertise and resources necessary to design and deliver space management solutions in the country and beyond throughout Africa. An example of this is Vivo Energy, a company that distributes and markets Shell and Engen branded fuels and lubricants to retail and commercial customers in Africa. Vivo Energy operates and markets its products in countries across North, West, East and Southern Africa, with a network of over 2,000 service stations in 23 countries operating under the Shell and Engen brands.

The company's vision is to become the most respected energy business in Africa. As part of that long-term vision, they have embarked on a massive infrastructure upgrade focused on refurbishing and modernising all of the brand's old service stations while constructing new and state-of-the-art service stations across Zambia.

With this in mind, Vivo had partnered with Ufudu Zambia to provide numerous modular buildings and other space management solutions to be used as site offices, ablution and change room facilities, both on a rental and sales basis. We first supplied Vivo Energy with a unit for their Nchelenge site. That was a success, and thanks to our unbelievably short manufacturing and delivery lead times and the quality of our innovative units, we have a commitment from the brand to continue our partnership as they refurbish their network of service stations.

We recently signed a deal and supplied Vivo Energy with two units under a year-long lease at their Northmead service station along Makishi Road in Lusaka. The two units are being used as operations facilities as they upgrade their office/Quick Shop facility at the service station. We look forward to working together with Vivo Energy in the coming months and years to enable their ambitious infrastructure upgrade efforts.
